All roads lead to Edmonton. Edmonton is the centre of attraction of the North-West Territories today. No place in the west occupies such a unique and enviable position. It being the centre of the largest and richest agricultural and mixed farming district in Canada. The future coal supply depot for the Territories, hence the future manufacturing metropolis of the country. The coming great railway centre of the west. The gateway to the great agricultural, fur and timber country to the north and the distributing point for an area exceeding 900,000 square miles. The extent and far reaching trade of Edmonton is a source of wonderment and surprise to visitors but is only an indication of what it is going to become. The world moves and so does Edmonton. It is a beehive of industry. It is estimated that about 700 buildings have been erected this year and no signs of a let up. Building operations were carried on all last winter and will be all this winter. The future of Edmonton is assured. Nothing can hinder or keep it back. The long days of waiting and uncertainty are over. "There is a tide in the affairs of men, which, if taken at the flood, leads on to fortune." The flood tide is upon us. Now is your opportunity. No time like the present. Don't forget October 19th the day on which we begin the sale of lots on the Norwood Addition. We have surveyed the Alex Rowland Property adjoining the town, north of Rat Creek, into Lots 33 by 120, and larger, with good wide streets, lanes and boulevards. These lots we are now offering at from $40 to $150 each on easy terms. This is a beautiful residential site, high, dry and clean and is going to be a very popular locality, being so convenient to the business centre and being outside the town limits free of Municipal taxes. Many enquiries for them are already being made. The Sale will begin on Oct. 19th. Take advantage of this opportunity and you won't have to look back upon it with regret as another lost chance. The Prices and Terms are within the reach of all. Think of the money that has been made in Town Lots here in the past two years, is being made and going to be made. Think of the money you might have made by buying early if you did not. Buy some of these lots and make money.

A MANUFACTURING CENTRE.

The recent trip of the Canadian manufacturers has opened their eyes to the vast possibilities of Western Canada. Like the touring British editors, the manufacturers have been shrewd observers. They have sized up the particular advantages of the different business centres in the west, and William Small, secretary treasurer and manager of the Canadian North-west, of Montreal, in an interview with a Winnipeg paper, said:

"We are thoroughly impressed with the fact that Winnipeg is now and will be for the future the great wholesale centre of the Canadian North-west. Other subsidiary distributing points will be developed, but they will not affect Winnipeg's position. The chief exception would seem to be Edmonton, which we expect to develop a territory of its own."

This is the result of the careful observation of one of the manufacturers. The last part of the paragraph is especially interesting to Edmonton citizens. It virtually means that Edmonton will be the Winnipeg of Alberta, Athabasca and Saskatchewan. This has been the shrewd opinion of all the old timers here, and it is especially gratifying to see prominent manufacturers taking the same view of the situation.

The north country, including the Peace River, Vermilion and Grand Prairie districts and the vast tracts of country further north and west, is absolutely dependable on Edmonton as its base of supplies. Edmonton will long continue to be the great distributing point for the west region. A natural outlet for our manufactured articles in the Saskatchewan river, over which goods can be shipped to supply the needs of the farmers on the vast tracts of magnificent land along the river between Edmonton and Battleford. For a great part of the distance the construction of railways from Edmonton to the east will have little effect on this river trade except to stimulate it. Towns will be springing up on the main lines of the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific west of Edmonton, and these towns will all draw their supplies from this point. Edmonton will compete successfully with Calgary for the trade along the Calgary and Edmonton railway.

We have all the natural advantages of cheap fuel and an immense tract of tributary country. Edmonton is destined to be a large distributing and manufacturing centre.

A PRESSING NEED.

It is high time that the names of all our streets should be put on signs at the street corners. This is an absolute necessity, as the town is getting so large that it is a great difficulty that a stranger can be directed about the city. Business men fully understand the present difficulty in taking directions from customers for the forwarding of parcels, etc. This gives rise to numerous and almost unavoidable mistakes, which would be greatly alleviated by erecting the names of the streets on conspicuous places at the street corners. The work could be done under the direction of T. G. Lauder, assistant to the city engineer, at comparatively small expense. This is a pressing necessity and immediate steps should be taken to have the work carried out.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

Wetaskiwin Times.
What almost proved a fatal accident happened to two of our citizens at the King Edward Hotel last Sunday morning. A. J. McCullough, the proprietor of the hotel, and W. H. Patterson, one of the permanent guests had just taken an "eye-opener," which but the "chaser" they took, which was from a ginger beer bottle, proved to be a solution for the cleaning of windows composed of wood sash windows and ammonia which had been carelessly left where it could be easily mistaken. The result was that they were both badly burned internally and the lives of both men were for several hours in imminent danger. Medical aid was at once summoned, and everything possible was done to relieve the intense suffering. The men are now rallying under the care of a nurse from Edmonton and it is thought, and hoped for by their many friends, that they will speedily recover.

FROM OTTAWA.

Bulletin Correspondence.

Yesterday forenoon was occupied by an animated discussion in regard to the validity of the signatures on the anti-railway petitions which have recently been presented to parliament. Talbot, M. P. for Belchase, drew attention to the fact that some of the signatures on two petitions from the adjoining county of Montmagny were placed there without authority of the persons named, and asked for an investigation before the privileges and elections committee. He followed this up by a general statement that the petitions generally were to a considerable extent fraudulent. This statement was met by the leader of the opposition demanding that all the petitions be made subject to investigation. This was agreed to by the premier. The result of the matter is, it pushed to a conclusion, that the session of parliament may be very seriously lengthened by the proceedings thus authorized before the privileges and elections committee. It may be that some arrangement will be arrived at whereby they can be cut short, but unless there is such an arrangement no limit can be set for the close of the proceedings of this committee.

The Railway Commission bill, which went to the Senate several weeks ago, has been amended by that body at the request of, and in the interests of the railway companies, especially in respect of the provision regarding the killing of cattle on the tracks, and the spread of fires.

It may be remembered that the provision inserted by the Commons in regard to these matters was the result of motions by private members, and was passed against the judgment of the then minister of railways. It is possible that after all his judgment in the matter may have been best. Had the bill gone to the Senate as he wished it to, it no doubt would have been accepted and would have become law.

Although short of actual requirements in three or four particulars the general principle would have been established, and these particulars could have been amended at a succeeding session. As the matter stands now the Senate has reversed the view of the Commons in these particulars, and has given the railroad companies advantages which the ex-minister did not give them in the bill as drawn.

These amendments must either be agreed to by the Commons, or the whole bill thrown over until another session, when it might possibly fail of passing altogether. The three principal points upon which the Commons felt that the bill did not go far enough were in regard to the killing of cattle, the spread of fire, and drainage across railway property. The railway companies attacked all three before the Senate railway committee. The drainage provision was defended strongly by Cowan, Liberal M. P. for Essex, who acted as solicitor for the anti railway interest in the discussion before the Senate railway committee, and the drainage provisions inserted by the Commons were upheld.

The amendments to the Grain Act, which were passed by the Commons, have also been amended by the Senate, and again in the interest of the railways as against the farmers. These amendments will also have to be agreed to in the Commons or the amending bill thrown out altogether, unless the Senate consents to the view which the Commons finally takes.

The Redistribution bill has been considered in the Senate, and while a considerable kick has been made against it, there does not seem likely to be any serious attempt at changing its provisions.

Yesterday was set for the consideration of the railway bill in the Senate, but the greater part of the day, and until one o'clock in the morning, was taken up by a discussion on the merits of a bill providing for retiring allowances to judges. It appears that Lieutenant Governor Angers, who was at one time a judge of the province of Quebec, and afterwards a cabinet minister in the Conservative government, stands to benefit by the provisions of this bill. This meets with a large measure of objection from Liberal members from that province, and also from some Conservative members, including Sir Mackenzie Bowell, who owes his retirement from the premiership to the action taken by Angers in uniting with Mr. Foster in forming what Sir Mackenzie termed the "nest of traitors."

The public works supplementary bill was under discussion yesterday. A vote was taken on the item of $25,000 for expenses of the transportation commission recently appointed. The opposition took the ground that as a transcontinental railway policy had been decided upon, there was no need for such a commission. The government, however, maintained that the purpose of the question of railway deal with the question of railway transportation, but with that of water and combined water and rail, transportation between the head of the lakes and the ocean. The opposition moved to strike out the item and were defeated by a vote in committee of 40 to 22. The item of $25,000 toward the construction of a trail from Peace River to Pelly River was carried. This is a revival of the effort made some years ago to open a direct trail from Edmonton to the Yukon, which was carried so unanimously and vociferously ly for several years by many Canadian papers and politicians, but which the march of events has finally proven to be a necessity in the development of a valuable tract of Interior Canada. The item of $15,000 for the construction of a telegraph line from Edmonton to Athabasca Landing was also agreed to. Also the item of $81,000 for the construction of new steel bridges across the Old Man's and Belly Rivers at Macleod, and Lethbridge. This work is being done by the Northwest government out of their general grant, and the vote was to repay them the total cost.

CATTLE FOR THE NORTH WEST

Mr. F. W. Hodson, Dominion live stock commissioner, says that at present the trade in stockers between the older provinces and the Northwest Territories is in a very unsatisfactory condition, and many of those who have been shipping young cattle to the Northwest this season have been very much disappointed in the prices realized.

Under date of September 22nd, Mr. Chas. W. Peterson, secretary of the Territorial Live Stock Association, writes: "Within the past week from four hundred to six hundred stockers have reached Calgary alone, and the demand here is absolutely nil. These people must either take their stock elsewhere, or lose heavily."

There are several reasons for this condition of affairs. Finished cattle have been selling at unprecedentedly low prices. It is stated on good authority that the entire output of one of the largest ranches in Southern Alberta, was sold at $32.50 per head for three year old and four year old cattle. Naturally, therefore, men that paid $22 per head for yearlings two years ago, and have sold them this season at three year olds for prices in the neighborhood of $32, are not anxious to buy stockers this fall at anything like the prices prevailing for the last two or three years.

Again, winter feed is scarcer than usual on the ranches this fall; and as a consequence many of the cattlemen who usually purchase a number of stockers at this season of the year, have scarcely any enough to carry their breeding stock through the winter.

Another reason for the present unsatisfactory condition of the stocker trade, not only in the Northwest, but also in the older provinces, is the poor quality of a large number of the young cattle that have been placed on the market during the last few years. Many of these were as far from the right kind of raw material from which to make finished beef as they could be. During a period of high prices, markets are not so discriminating in the quality of the goods offered, but when prices are low, markets are more sensitive; they are more easily overstocked; buyers are more careful in making their selections; and it becomes a case of the survival of the fittest only. A high-class product of any kind will always command a fair price, but on a depressed market inferior stuff must be sacrificed at prices far below the cost of production.

The ranchers have also discovered that they must be more careful in the selection of their bulls than heretofore, and Ontario breeders will do well to make a note of this. During recent years every bull calf that was eligible for registration, was saved with a view to selling him at some sort of price for the ranches; but the ranchers have discovered that they must pay more attention to quality and breeding, and that first-class bulls are cheaper as a good price than registered scurbs as a gift. It is safe to predict that in a very short time it will not be possible to sell inferior bulls to the ranchers at any price.
